Walkout By South Is Hinted

Byrnes Reveals
Anti-FEPC Plan

By JACK BELL
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Gov. James F. Byrnes of South Carolina brought out into the open Tuesday the violent threat of a southern revolt against any Democratic presidential nominee who supports President Truman's Civil Rights Program.

Byrnes laid before reporters at the annual governors conference here that pattern of a possible post-convention bolt. He said his own state, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, Texas and possibly others might follow.

It consisted, principally, of action to keep the total of 62 electoral votes of the five states unpledged until after the Republican and Democratic conventions in Chicago this month. President Truman lost 39 electoral votes in the state rights revolt of 1948.

Cool Vote GOP
Byrnes, former secretary of state and Supreme Court justice, made it clear that so far as his own state is concerned the electors could be instructed to vote for a Republican or a third ticket standard bearer if the Democratic platform calls for a Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with powers to enforce in the states its ruling against job discrimination.

Byrnes indicated he expects the question of whether the Democratic convention will seat Southern delegations which have kept their ticket open will come to a head when Texans seek official admission.

The South Carolina governor said his own delegation will be ready to take a walk if the Texans are not seated.

GOP Convention Plans Pushed Amid 'Monkey-Cage' Confusion

By ARTHUR EDSON

CHICAGO (AP)—The Republican National Committee got the GOP convention preliminaries off to a typical political start Tuesday—in wonderful confusion.

Who was confused—and who caused the confusion—is a matter of debate. But there's no question but that the confusion was complete.

"Bedlam," was the way Mrs. F. Peavey Heffelfinger, national committeewoman from Wayzata, Minn., described it.

"A monkey-cage," growled J. E. Ross Todd, national committee member from Louisville, Ky.

Well, it was pretty bad at that. The National Committee had planned to hear arguments over the disputed delegates to the convention which starts Monday.

But before they started that, they were to decide whether the affair would be televised.

Long before the committee had a chance to meet and decide whether to permit television and newsreels, the photographers had strewn their equipment around everywhere and were on the job.

Bright lights beamed. The crowd thickened.

A fellow from Texas brought in his state flag, and you-all know what that means.

It was hot and crowded, with everyone milling around as if they were, in Todd's words, in "a monkey-cage."

The National Committee finally solved the immediate problem. Knowing there was no way to move the cameras without a prolonged fuss, the committee moved away and left them—down to the Boulevard Room of the Conrad Hilton Hotel, where the ice shows are held.

The setting here was calmer, though unorthodox for political shindigs.

Restraint used to be the chief method in handling the mental patients. When Dr. Charlton first became a ward physician at Hastings State Hospital in 1913, patients were confined to locked wards. Many slept in beds with iron cribs around them and the padded cell was in active use.

Today, with more effective and less harsh means of treatment, a higher percentage of patients can be returned to normalcy.

Dr. Charlton became superintendent of the hospital here in 1916.

Gere Sisters' Condition After Wreck Serious

GRASS VALLEY, Calif. (AP)—The condition of sisters Mariel, 79, and Frances Gere, 77, both of 2811 So. 24th in Lincoln, was reported pretty serious but not critical by a doctor Tuesday after they were injured in a truck-auto accident near here.

The doctor said it might be several days before the outcome will be known. A third Lincoln woman hurt in the crash Monday, Mary E. Sampson, about 40, of the same address, was released Tuesday from Jones Memorial Hospital where the Gere sisters are patients.

The Highway Patrol said the Nebraska women's car was struck from the rear by a truck and trailer loaded with lumber on U.S. Highway 49 and was shoved over a bank. The automobile hit a tree headon, spilling the passengers to the ground.

Mariel Gere, retired Lincoln High teacher, who was driving, according to safety patrolmen, suffered a severe chest injury, possible damage to her lung and a probable cracked rib, in addition to concussion and facial lacerations. Frances Gere, still unconscious, suffered a compound fracture of the ankle.

The truck driver, Eugene John Murphy of nearby Nevada City, told investigators he had been following the automobile for several miles and was using his horn to make the car move over so he could pass.

When the two vehicles came to a short open stretch on the mountain road, Murphy said, the car pulled into the center of the highway and stopped.

The truckman put on the brakes and wheeled his vehicle to the left, but it hit the automobile.

Raiders Punch At Communists

SEOUL (Wednesday) (AP)—Two Allied raiding parties punched into Communist positions on the Western Korean front Tuesday, but the soggy battleline was generally quiet.

B-26 light bombers made 25 close support missions on the battlefield, but rain and low clouds hampered air strikes at supply lines.

There still was no Eighth Army estimate of Communist casualties in Monday night's sharp fighting on Heartbreak Ridge in eastern Korea.

A North Korean battalion—about 750 men—attacked under cover of heavy artillery fire but was repulsed after an hour, mostly by Allied artillery.

Liquor Question At York Stymied By Lack of Quorum

YORK — Absence of two city councilmen at a special meeting here Tuesday night left the hotly contested question of another liquor store for York still hanging in the air.

Mayor Ivan Fleming said the absence of the two members, which deprived the Council of a quorum, was "An apparently deliberate attempt to keep from being put on the spot."

The "spot" to which he referred was an intended vote by the Council on a motion to ask the State Liquor Commission to grant a rehearing on its recent action giving a liquor permit to James C. Smith of York.

Over Protests
The Commission last week granted the permit over the objections of the City Council, which had recommended its rejection. The permit was granted after a heated hearing in Lincoln.

Granting of the license was opposed generally by church groups, which seek to keep the number of package stores in York at three. Most support for the permit came from veterans.

The missing councilmen were V. M. Patterson and Henry Schneider.

Irate Mayor Fleming said after the meeting that "there is no question but what this absence was deliberate. Both the absent members signed the call for the meeting. This is an insult."

The councilmen present voted to decide the question at a special Thursday night meeting.

Only two townspeople appeared at the meeting in anticipation of discussion of the question.

Democrat Delegates To Confer Monday

Monday is the tentative date set by National Committeeman James C. Quigley of Valentine for the organizing meeting of the delegates to the Democratic national convention.

The meeting is planned for Omaha. Quigley said a definite time for holding the meeting has been difficult because various members of the delegation have been out of the state on business.

Kitts' Alleged Associates Ask Iowa Release

SIOUX CITY, Ia. (AP)—Two bank robbery suspects who the government alleges were associated with notorious Kenneth A. Kitts Tuesday told the Federal District Court they are innocent and asked to be released from jail.

The two, Frank Ellsworth, 33, and Charles C. Taylor, 29, both of Omaha, asserted that further court proceedings against them here would place them in "double jeopardy."

Their attorneys asked dismissal of indictments which charged their clients with entering the Granville, Ia., bank with intent to commit a felony.

Kitts, the government's main witness, testified at their trial two months ago that Ellsworth and Taylor were not with him on the job.

The motion to dismiss was brought about by the declaration of a mistrial after Kitts' testimony.

The attorneys contend their clients had been placed in jeopardy once at the trial and therefore, according to the provisions of the Constitution, could not again be jeopardized.

T. A. Diamond, United States attorney, contended that the government should be given another chance against the men because Kitts turned out to be a "surprise hostile witness" who earlier said he would testify Ellsworth and Taylor were with him.

Only two townspeople appeared at the meeting in anticipation of discussion of the question.

Wymore Man Fatally Injured

OMAHA (AP)—Walter Biddle, 69, of Wymore, Neb., was fatally injured Monday night in a two-car collision at the west edge of Omaha on 90th and Dodge streets.

His wife, Margaret, 67, was seriously injured and their daughter, Marvel Biddle, 43, was dazed but was not believed to have serious injuries.

Also hospitalized were the driver of the other car, Leroy Oberhelman, 24, of Council Bluffs, Iowa, and his wife Alice, 22. Their injuries were believed minor.

Safety Patrolman Don Elliott said Oberhelman was driving east and the Biddle car, presumed driven by Biddle, was driving north across Dodge street after stopping for a stop sign.

Biddle's death was the 146th in Nebraska this year, compared to 130 at this time in 1951.

Bryan Released From Shanghai Jail

HONG KONG (INS) — A 50-year-old American lawyer is resting in the home of a U. S. consular official in Hong Kong Tuesday, recovering from a 17-month ordeal at the hands of the Chinese Communists.

Robert T. Bryan, former advocate of the Shanghai International Municipal Council, arrived in Hong Kong Sunday following his release from Shanghai's notorious Ward Road Jail.

Bryan's return to freedom leaves 38 Occidentals in Chinese Communist jails and 20 others under house arrest, according to an unofficial but reliable count here.

Six other Americans are reported being held in the Shanghai jail.

Among those imprisoned are 23 Protestant missionaries, 22 Catholic missionaries, including two Maryknoll sisters and four bishops. The remainder are listed as students and businessmen and their wives.

No breakdown according to the nationality of the prisoners is available.

Bryan, a native of Virginia, said he had been arrested by the Communists on Feb. 11, 1951, on a charge of espionage but after repeated questioning the charges were found "untenable."

In his capacity as municipal advocate, Bryan was in charge of the prosecution of Communist terrorists in the former international settlement.

Bryan said he planned to return to the U. S. on Wednesday.

FREAK ACCIDENT — Miriam Shindelower, 6, manages a smile as she sits in Grady Hospital in Atlanta, Ga., after she was struck by a flying coat hanger in a freak accident. Her father, Harry Shindelower, was cutting grass with a power mower when the blade hurled the hanger like an arrow at the child 20-30 feet away. It penetrated the neck (arrow) and 8 to 10 inches into the chest where it partially collapsed a lung. Throughout the ordeal Miriam hardly cried at all. The hanger has been removed and the child's condition is reported as good. (AP Wirephoto.)

N.U. Chorus Will Present Folk-Opera

An evening full of old-time tunes will be presented at the Student Union at 8 p.m. Wednesday when the University of Nebraska summer chorus stages the well known folk-opera "Down In the Valley" by Kurt Weill.

The performance is free and open to the public.

With Earl Jenkins of the University music faculty directing, the cast of 18 includes Peggy Bayer of Lincoln, soprano; Edward Wells of Gordon, tenor; Dale Ganz of the music faculty, baritone; Jack Wells, Lincoln, baritone; and Leonard Blinde, Burwell, baritone.

The folk-opera features such nostalgic old tunes as "Sourwood Mountain," "Hop Up, My Ladies," "The Lonesome Dove," and "Down in the Valley." The plot concerns a girl and boy who are unable to marry because the girl's father wishes his daughter to marry the town rich man. The course of this struggle comes to a tragic and tearful end.

A chorus of dancers is being directed by Mrs. Doyle Bladen of the University physical education faculty. The accompanist is Marilyn Schultz.

Midget Racing Club License Renewed

Despite protests from neighbors that racing cars cause a "cloud of dust" near Lincoln and Van Dorn Streets, the Lancaster County Commissioners voted to renew the license of the Micro-Midget Racing Club for a track at that location.

Attorney Art Perry appeared on behalf of land owners in the vicinity, claiming that the cars caused excessive dust and noise. Club President Clyde L. Clymer said that when the track is completed, the track will be thoroughly sprinkled before it is used. He said clay will be placed on the track.

Each side presented a petition. The commissioners limited the operation of the one-eighth mile track to Sunday afternoons, after 1 p.m.

4-H Demonstration To Be Wednesday

Lancaster County 4-H Clubs will hold their annual demonstration day Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. at the Chamber of Commerce.

Youngsters from all parts of the county will be aided by Mrs. Dorothea Holstein, of the state extension office, and by county officials. Demonstrations put on by the youngsters will be judged, and suggestions given for improvement.

The program is part of aid given to the 4-H Clubs for county and State Fair demonstrations.

County To Rebuild Bridge At Emerald

An emergency resolution authorizing County Engineer Louis W. Weaver to plan for reconstruction of a collapsed bridge near Emerald was approved by the Lancaster County Commissioners.

The bridge collapsed last week under the weight of heavy road equipment which was passing over it. Although the normal limit of the bridge was five tons, Weaver said, the machines weighed about 35 tons. The bridge was completely demolished. It is located two miles west and one-half mile south of Emerald.

The resolution authorizes Weaver to take steps to rebuild the bridge, which is on a well-traveled road.

Muffled Voice Of The People

It appears that a fervent plea heard so frequently some months ago to let the people speak has been abandoned by some of its most enthusiastic, earlier advocates.

Nebraska could be an excellent sample. It was the third state in the union to adopt the direct primary system—following closely on the heels of Wisconsin and Oregon. That direct primary system, first adopted in 1907 here, 45 years ago, remained unsullied, unchanged until the two major party organizations began their tinkering to impose what is called the pre-primary system of endorsing candidates for party nomination. Yet in spite of primary tampering, we had a presidential preference expression in this state on the opening day of April last. On the Republican ticket, Harold Stassen's name alone appeared as a candidate for the presidency. There was a blank space to write in the name of either Gen. Dwight Eisenhower or Sen. Bob Taft.

Sen. Taft won that Nebraska preferential expression. There was no question about his victory. It was clearcut, impressive. He was not a candidate on his own initiative. It was necessary to write his name in just the same as the friends of Gen. Eisenhower had to follow the same practice. When it came to organization, money, paid advertising, and radio support, Gen. Eisenhower had the advantage in Nebraska but Taft had the votes. Now a studied effort is being made (it has been in progress for some time) to convince Nebraskans chosen to serve as delegates that they should ignore the primary outcome if in their judgment Eisenhower could run better. That comes from those who a few months ago were turning heaven and earth to convince people that a new era in American politics would dawn if the people were given the opportunity to speak.

What they meant, apparently, was that when the people spoke, they were to be heard if the vote favored the men self-appointed leaders favored—otherwise to hell with it if the popular vote went to another man!

We said this is a cynical campaign. It is. It is not necessary to travel beyond the borders of this state to uncover a surprising degree of cynicism. Estes Kefauver entered the Nebraska primary, campaigned vigorously here along with his chief rival, Sen. Bob Kerr, and yet some of the members of the Nebraska delegation, favorable to Kerr, choose to ignore the clearly expressed voice of the Democratic voters of Nebraska. We've even gotten down to the business of figuring out that since the state is split up in districts, the moral requirements are fulfilled if the delegates elected from these districts cast a ballot in compliance with the sentiment expressed in the district. Why not ignore the district and let it hinge upon the vote in a delegate's home precinct?

Let's make the primary mean something! Instead of making a mockery out of it because the vote happened to go against someone we prefer, let's take the position that the primary result is binding upon delegates. Unless we're willing to take our stand on this sound ground, then let's quit yapping ecstatically out of season that American political life will never be truly democratic, will never reflect the moral and spiritual qualities it should until the people are permitted to speak. It would be a refreshing thing if Nebraska's delegates to the two national conventions, setting an example for other states, should give voice to the primary results here last April by voting for the men who won those primaries.

There is no law to compel them to do so. They can find a thousand arguments against voting for Taft or Kefauver. But until states come to accept primary results as binding, all this chatter about letting the people speak is so much idle bunk, possibly tinged with a measure of insincerity.

The Freedom To Teach

The prestige and privileges of academic freedom have become tarnished by the elements which have gained in strength and influence throughout the United States in recent years. Where once the views of college and university instructors were subjected only to the test of logic and competence, they now are put under the microscope by outside organizations whose primary complaint is that instructors sometimes have come to conclusions which vary from those of pressure groups or perhaps from the majority opinion of the people of this country.

Attention has been directed to this trend many times in these columns, for the issue of academic freedom is not one which is confined to the campus alone. It is part—a sturdy part—of the whole fabric of American life. If the freedom to teach is restricted, all of us, not just the instructors and students, suffer the consequences which will increase in intensity as time passes.

A notable contribution to the understanding of issues involved in the present controversy, which extends through college and universities from one coast to the other, was made by the Harvard Crimson, student publication at that institution of higher learning whose roots go back to the beginnings of the new country. Its fourth annual report on academic freedom contains a series of articles reporting 53 cases of abridgment of academic freedom or instances in which it appears that colleges or universities buckled under pressure applied by newspapers or self-appointed patriotic vigilantes.

The Crimson sees two reasons for the growth in number of Americans who have abandoned the idea of academic freedom. First, it says, the threat of Communism, dramatized by the apprehension of spies and party leaders, has panicked many citizens. Second, the Crimson observes, many persons become incensed when anybody dares suggest that America can stand some improvement.

This may be a simplification of the problem, since it fails, for instance, to take into consideration a number of individuals who have made tremendous political capital out of the faculty hunts. But there can be no quarrel with the conclusion reached by Crimson:

"To be effective, academic freedom requires complete liberty, within the law, for instructors and students alike to investigate what they will and proclaim their findings and interpretations without fear of retribution from those who, usually with a good deal less research, have arrived at different conclusions. It requires that everyone be allowed to air his views, and that anyone competent have the chance to teach."

Rough Road For Ancient Enemies

The fact that the Schuman Plan has now been ratified by all six national legislatures involved does not mean that the great experiment in economic co-operation is assured of success. The road ahead will present problems equally as difficult as those already surmounted, and the peoples of France, Germany, Belgium, the Netherlands, Italy and Luxembourg will find that the agreement will not improve the European economy overnight.

The proposal to pool the coal, iron and steel industries of Western Europe, originally made by Robert Schuman, French foreign minister, is a revolutionary one. It has removed one cause of hostility among those nations, which more than once has led to war. The mutual interest of these countries to make the plan work is the best incentive possible, and the unflinching drive to ratify the agreement in each country has paid off with the most notable success thus far.

Separated by an ocean, the United States is not in any way a disinterested bystander in these proceedings. The Schuman Plan, dealing with economic problems, is not as spectacular as the NATO accomplishments with their military and strategic goals. But this new project, bringing together in common cause those ancient enemies, France and Germany, is one which is as important as building an army to resist any potential Communist attack. Without a sound economic base, the nations of Western Europe can never be a formidable fighting force.

Hubbub In Hunstanton

The little village of Hunstanton, once a quiet little English resort town, is experiencing considerable excitement these days, comparable as a talking point to the time the Bowling Club's silver cup vanished in 1926 and then mysteriously returned two years ago.

Hunstanton (pronounced "Hunston") is rapidly becoming known as "Little America." Almost 12 per cent of the present population is American, and another influx of 1,100 American wives and children expected to join U. S. airman stationed at a nearby air base will add to the Yank influence in this British town.

Blow In A Paper Bag

Medical backing has now been given to the old hiccup remedy recommended by grandmother—blowing into a paper bag.

The validity of this approach, according to Drs. Albert F. Gigot and Paul D. Lynn of the Lahey Clinic in Boston, cannot be challenged. What happens is this: Carbon dioxide, re-breathed while one's mouth is covered by a paper bag, increases the depth of respiration, and co-ordination is restored between the nerves and muscles involved in breathing. The same effect, obtaining an excessive amount of carbon dioxide in the body, can be achieved by holding the breath as long as possible.

Scientific proof of this hiccup remedy is some encouragement to those victims who have willing friends trying to help them. There isn't a worse pest in the world than the guy who comes up behind someone with hiccups and yells: "Boo!"

Traffic Hazard

An Iowa police magistrate delivered a stinging rebuke to a woman back-seat driver for getting her husband into an automobile accident, thereby setting up the possibility of a new traffic charge: Driving under the influence of his wife.

DREW PEARSON

Big Boners Committed By State Department

ALEXANDER

CLARK

... an understanding, a mixup, a bawling out ...

WASHINGTON — Those who know the inside on several State Department errors recently are beginning to wonder how our fumbling diplomats have been able to keep the United States out of war as well as they have. Boner after boner has been pulled by State Department men, which with the common sense of a railroad yardmaster, could have been prevented. Here are the three latest:

1—The Lattimore snafu could have been softened even at the last moment when Michael McDermott, State Department press officer, was asked if it wasn't true that the Department frequently acted on rumors in banning citizens from foreign travel.

Grandiloquently replied McDermott: "The State Department does not take action on fantasies or inanities."

Yet, in the Lattimore case that was exactly what the State Department did.

2—For months the State Department has had in its hands amazing details of how the China Lobby has been trying to buy, bribe, and subvert American foreign policy. Yet it's done nothing. Now Sen. McCarran, worst State Department enemy, has moved in with a secret probe to browbeat State Department witnesses.

3—Failure to notify the British in the Yalu dam bombings is one of the most nonsensical boners in years. It was such a cock-eyed comedy of errors that it's unbelievable. Here is a play-by-play account of what happened.

For weeks Churchill's government had been getting some rough criticism from the Laborites over lack of co-operation in Korea. So Lord Alexander, British minister of defense, went to Tokyo to iron things out. Lord Alexander got along beautifully with Gen. Mark Clark, told everyone that we were doing a fine job, and that Anglo-American co-operation couldn't be better.

He was planning to make a glowing report to this effect on his return to London. But, while in Washington en route home, he had the rug pulled out from under him.

The Defense Department telephoned acting Secretary of State David Bruce to say that Gen. Clark had advised that he was about to bomb the hydroelectric dams.

"I assume the British are being notified," was Bruce's comment. "I assume so," was the Pentagon's reply.

But neither one did anything about the assumption. They went serenely about the humdrum routine of Washington without even bothering to pick up the phone to notify Lord Alexander, who was a few blocks away in Washington praising American co-operation.

Dean Acheson, at that particular time, was on a plane bound for London. It was not his fault. His undersecretary of state, Bruce, who has been responsible for more than one bad boner in the past, was in charge.

As to legal necessity of notifying the British, there are mixed opinions. Foreign Secretary Morrison had stopped in Washington en route to Ottawa last September at which time two agreements were made regarding Korea.

One was a list of moves we would make in case the truce negotiations broke down, such as blockading the China coast. Most of these moves are still secret.

The other was a list of targets we would bomb if the truce talks broke off. This list included the hydroelectric dams.

Strictly speaking, it was not necessary to notify the British—if the truce talks broke off. But there is a difference of opinion as to whether the truce talks are broken off or merely bogged down. Furthermore, Foreign Secretary Morrison understood London was to be notified, even though this understanding was never reduced to writing.

The easiest solution obviously was to pick up the phone and call Lord Alexander—especially since he personally thought the dams should have been bombed.

Reason for Gen. Clark's desire to bomb the dams was important. About three weeks ago he got worried that the Reds were ready to launch a new offensive. He feared they were using the truce talks as a blind for a sneak attack. On one occasion the Communists threw 15,000 troops into a savage battle to regain T-Bone Hill and it was obvious that the Chinese command was trying to find a weak spot in U.N. lines.

It was at this point that Clark and Gen. Van Fleet decided to knock out the power dams. These dams have provided the power for the Communist radar network that directs enemy fighters and artillery. They also feed electricity to most of the war industry of Manchuria.

Clark asked permission of the Joint Chiefs of Staff in Washington to bomb the dams, and got an okay. But the State Department, whose job it is to handle all communications with the British embassy, blithely "assumed" the British had been notified.

When Acheson, arriving in London, learned of the boner, he telephoned his undersecretary, Bruce, and gave him a highly diplomatic bawling out. Then he arranged to talk with 200 British members of parliament, at which he did a bang-up job of explaining the tragedy of errors.

Though Acheson converted the MP's to a greater understanding of the snafu, it has given the British Labor leaders more ammunition with which to brand us as warmongers and continued their attacks on U.S. foreign policy.

And the whole thing could have been prevented if the State and Defense Departments had used a little less secrecy and a little more realization that we can't win a war without consulting our friends.

Text Of Acheson's Speech

This columnist has been able to obtain the full text of the so-called "apology" given by Secretary of State Acheson regarding the bombing of hydroelectric dams on the Yalu River.

It shows that Acheson gave an explanation rather than apology, and did not even admit that the British had an "absolute right" to be consulted.

Here is the full text of exactly what he said: "If I digress for a moment I shall make some remarks about a matter which is one of controversy and which I would not speak about in England were it not for the fact that this is off-the-record. I shall restrict my remarks to what I think it is my duty to say to you at this time. This is about the matter that you have been debating in the last two or three days.

"You would ask me, I am sure, if I did not say this, two questions, and I should like to reply very frankly to both of them. One question you would ask is: 'Shouldn't the British government have been informed or consulted about this?' To that, my answer would be 'Yes.' It should have been; indeed, it was our intention to do it. It is only as the result of what the United States is known as a 'snafu' that you were not consulted about it.

"I am sure that you are wholly inexperienced in England with government errors. We, unfortunately, have had more familiarity with them and due to the fact that one person was supposed to do something, and thought another person was supposed to do something, you were not consulted. Therefore, you should have been. We have no question about that.

"If you ask me whether you had an absolute right to be consulted, I should say no, but I don't want to argue about absolute right.

"What I want to say is that you are a partner of ours in this operation, and we want to consult you; we should have, and we recognize an error.

"Now you ask me whether this was a proper action. To that I say: 'Yes, a very proper action, an essential action.' It was taken on military grounds. It was to bomb five plants, four of which were far removed from the frontier, one of which was on the frontier. We had not bombed these plants before because they had been dismantled, and we wished to preserve them in the event of unification of Korea. They had been put into operation once more; they were supplying most of the energy which was used not only by airfields which were operating against us, but by radar which was directing fighters against our planes.

"We have lost very heavily since these armistice talks began. The United States alone has had 30,000 casualties during these armistice talks. Our Air Force has lost very heavily. In one operation we lost more B-29s than we could replace for some time, and therefore our soldiers believed and, in my judgment, rightly believed that in the conduct of this war you must protect those men who are fighting and dying on the front.

"I mention that because I think it is my duty to do it, and not with any desire to engage in any internal controversy in Great Britain."

MAN'S BEST FRIEND

Mother Beagle And 9 Pups Make A Full House

NINE HUNGRY BEAGLE PUPS ... they eat like demons, but they're a lot of fun ...

By JEFF WITHROW
(Star Staff Writer)

A strong conviction that Beagles are the best family dogs among man's best friends—a conviction expressed in The Star on June 16 by the owner of a beagle with five pups—is seconded by Mr. and Mrs. William Helter and their three sons of West Lincoln.

Basis for this belief is Pretty Girl Peggy Ann, 2-year-old Beagle, and her nine registered pups.

"It's going to be hard to part with those pups," Mrs. Helter says. "They're a lot of work and they eat like little demons, but they're a lot of fun."

She explained that the dogs really belong to one of three boys in the family—Robert, 16—but that the whole Helter family takes a keen interest in them.

"The family stays in the back yard as long as possible every day, watching and caring for the dogs," according to Mrs. Helter.

The ten Beagles were at first housed on the back porch of the Helter home but they soon outgrew their domain and had to be moved to the back yard.

Larry and Jimmie Helter, 13 and 11 respectively, agreed that Peg is the easiest to manage and the most intelligent dog they have ever owned.

Mrs. Helter explained that it takes a well-managed dog to live around other domestic animals. "We also raise rabbits, chickens, ducks and pigeons," she explained.

Peg is a good hunter, she said, and is trying to teach her pups to hunt also. The Helters have caught the pups several times following their mother into the field near the house in search of a cottontail.

Peg will someday be given opportunity to teach. The Helters plan to keep a pup as a hunting companion for her.

The People Speak

Let The Chips Fall

Lincoln, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I am at a loss to understand the letter to "The People Speak," relative to Drew Pearson and written by Ann Rich (Lincoln Star, June 30), but I believe it is a matter of her being poorly informed.

Drew Pearson, although he has drawn the wrath of both Democrats and Republicans from time to time, has done an outstanding job of reporting. He calls them as he sees them. He has uncovered more graft than any other columnist I know. He is Communism's worst enemy and probably ranks along with Dean Acheson and four or five others who would be first to be eliminated by Joe Stalin were it possible for him to do so. How about the balloon barrage sent back of the Iron Curtain, the Freedom Train to promote friendship, etc., that were sponsored by him?

Mr. Editor, give us more Drew Pearsons who will give us facts regardless of where the chips may fall.

DWIGHT F. FELTON

The Matter Of 'Honor'

Brock, Neb.
To the editor of The Lincoln Star: I have a letter from gubernatorial candidate Robert Crosby in which he explains that one of the reasons he believes the cost of the Nebraska assistance program should be substantially reduced is that many old age assistance recipients have children who are amply able to provide for them, but do not do so. He contends that they should do so, and supports his contention by quoting Exodus 20:12, "Honor thy Father and thy Mother."

I have contacted several clergymen of various faiths and received conflicting interpretations. Some contend that the quotation was intended to mean to "honor" only in a physical and spiritual sense, and others contend that you cannot truly "honor" in a physical and spiritual sense without also doing so in a material sense by the sharing of worldly goods, if able to do so.

Let's assume that Mr. Crosby is partially right to the extent that to "honor" includes the material sense. But who is going to say or prove whether this means that the child should provide for the parent by direct subsidy, or through paying taxes to support a public assistance program? We already have an assistance program, and the child who is financially able to provide direct subsidy for his parent is paying, theoretically at least, proportionately higher taxes for the support of this program than the child who is not financially well off. In addition, under present law, he must provide direct aid for his parent, regardless of whether this arrangement is satisfactory to both child and parent. This is a serious problem and inasmuch as Mr. Crosby has taken a stand on it, it would seem that it should be thoroughly discussed. Anyone, particularly clergymen, who feel that they can contribute to the discussion should write in this column.

Committee OK's Local Navy Funds

Sen. Fred Seaton reported Tuesday that sufficient money to finance relocation of the Naval Air Reserve at the Lincoln Air Base, presumably at the same location, is included in an authorization bill which is up for Senate consideration in Washington.

Word that the authorization bill had come out of committee hearing to the Senate came from Sen. Seaton to C. W. D. Kinsey, chairman of the Citizens Air Base Committee in Lincoln.

"The sum which has been agreed upon by both the Air Force and the Navy as being adequate for the job is less than the $3,500,000 previously discussed. The exact amount was not announced, but all concerned appear to be satisfied with the situation," Sen. Seaton told Kinsey by telephone.

His information came from Sen. Long of Louisiana, chairman of a sub-committee of the Senate Armed Services Committee, which is handling the general authorization bill in which the Lincoln Navy funds are included.

"Sen. Hugh Butler and Congressman Carl Curtis also are watching progress of the bill, which we expect to move along in orderly fashion," Sen. Seaton said.

The report clears up some doubt which existed last week regarding the source of funds needed for new facilities for the Naval Air Reserve, which now hopes to remain as a part of the Lincoln Air Base.

Stipulation On Platte Irrigation Nears Agreement

Compromise Under Way For States

Agreement appeared nearer Friday on a stipulation for modification of the U. S. Supreme court decree of 1945 to meet objections of Colorado to limitations placed on them in regard to Platte River water for irrigation purposes.

The original decree was made after several years of litigation in a suit brought by Nebraska against the states of Colorado and Wyoming. Colorado a year ago proposed that all restrictions on that state be eliminated.

Following a series of conferences between representatives of the three states, Nebraska was asked to draw up a stipulation that would embody a compromise expected to satisfy all three states.

Dan Jones Jr., chief of the Nebraska irrigation bureau, and Bert L. Overcash, assistant attorney general, have carried on the negotiations in behalf of Nebraska.

Two Objections
At a three-state meeting in Denver only two objections were made to the stipulation drawn by Overcash and he remained over Tuesday in an effort to provide a slight rewording to meet the objections.

The new proposal would permit Colorado an increase from 135,000 to 145,000 acres to be irrigated and an increase of North Platte River water to be stored from 17,000 to 20,000 feet annually.

Provision is made for construction of the Glendo Dam in Wyoming and development of supplemental irrigation thereunder for 25,000 acres in Nebraska and 15,000 feet for eastern Wyoming.

Nebraska is given the same protection against Glendo reservoir as now exists in the decree on other Wyoming storage reservoirs.

The Glendo project has not been approved by Congress and the Nebraska representatives proposed that the act provide for construction and operation as contemplated in the overall stipulation.

Nebraska also suggested at the meeting that before execution of the stipulation it would be necessary for the Bureau of Reclamation to make satisfactory arrangements with the affected irrigation districts of Western Nebraska for carrying out the provisions of the stipulation with reference to supplemental water including revision of Warren act contracts.

She married Daniel Delehant in Goodland, Kan., on Oct. 18, 1889. She lived in Gage County and in Omaha after 1896, until coming to Lincoln four years ago.

She had been visiting relatives at Council Bluffs when she became ill early last month. She died in a hospital there.

Mrs. Delehant was the mother of 12 children, eight of whom survive her. They are: Judge Delehant, Lincoln; Edward J. Delehant, Council Bluffs; Charles W. Delehant, Omaha; James R. Favorable Weather Spreads Wheat Harvest; Reports Good

(By The Associated Press)
Weather smiled on Nebraska's wheat harvesters Tuesday and the ingathering spread to new areas. Fremont elevators were getting wheat from every direction except south. Rain up to an inch at Wahoo Sunday night held up combining to the south of Fremont.

The Farmers Union Elevator at Fremont said the best wheat to date tested 60 pounds, with 13 per cent moisture. Other samples tested down to 58 pounds and up to 15 per cent moisture.

At Schuyler, the Wagner Mills reported it was taking some wheat from around Hastings but had refused to store Kansas wheat or western Nebraska wheat unless orders were in early. The elevator can store more than one million bushels.

Local wheat at Schuyler was averaging 25 to 35 bushels per acre although Adolph Vavrick, living seven miles northeast of Schuyler, had 45-bushel wheat. Omaha grain exchange sources Tuesday reported outstate loadings of 440 boxcars of wheat, with 154 arriving at Omaha.

The arrivals are expected to reach more than 500 cars a day by next week if weather continues favorable for harvesting. The harvest is yet to start in the Sidney area, Nebraska's premier wheat growing section.

Around Ogallala, however, grain was reported ripening fast and County Agent Fred Schmidt said some farmers will have combines in the field the latter part of this week.

In the Lincoln vicinity, farmers were returning to the wheat fields after sunshine dried off the week end moisture.

However, elevator men complained that the rain had damaged the quality. What had been 60- and 61-pound wheat before the rain now tests 58 and 59, they said. Elevators at Emerald, Denton, Greenwood and Raymond were all taking wheat Tuesday afternoon. Best guesses of quality were in the neighborhood of 30 bushels.

Harvesting has been under way in southern and southeast Nebraska for a week, although off and on rains have made it a stop and go proposition.

Hessian Fly infestation was reported general in Keith County. Damage has run from 20 to 40 per cent in fields inspected. County Agent Schmidt said at Ogallala. Some of the first test cuts of grain were brought in to Chappell elevators Tuesday. The wheat came from the so-called "south table" which was somewhat more burned and dry than the "north table."

At the Farmers Elevator the first five loads of wheat ranged in moisture content from 11 to 13 per cent, and from 51 to 38 pounds test. Yields were in the neighborhood of 22 to 25 bushels an acre.

Wilmer Castle and Mert Reese and Phillip Heim brought in the first two loads to the Farmers Elevator. Duffield and Neumann's first load to the Lexington elevator in Chappell tested 60 pounds and 13 per cent moisture.

In the York area, farmers who opened their wheat fields this week were described as agreeably surprised at the yield, despite hail damage of last week. Observers saw prospects of at least an average crop in York County.

Bob Keefe, northeast of York, was one of the first to deposit wheat in York. He estimated the yield at approximately 30 bushels. The test was 60 pounds per bushel with moisture of less than 10.5 per cent.

He is survived by seven sons, Judge Carter of Lincoln, C. L. Carter of Vinita, Okla., Harry L. Carter of Seattle, Wash., Norris W. Carter of Spokane, Wash., Russell A. Carter of Ashland, and A. Birchard of York; one daughter, Mrs. Margaret Delaney of Lincoln; two brothers, T. H. Carter and C. B. Hog Disease Called Virus

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department has identified a disease which struck hogs in the Omaha stock yards as a virus known as vesicular exanthema.

The department is checking on all hog shipments out of Omaha, mostly to the west.

S. O. Fladness, assistant chief of animal industry, said 45 experts are watching hogs shipped from Nebraska at food stops to the west and infected animals are held at those points.

Fladness said it had been determined that the infection is not the dread foot and mouth disease, which can affect all cloven hoof livestock.

The symptoms are similar, he said, blistering on tongue and feet. Since the infection is not as severe as the foot and mouth, Fladness said the animals could continue eating and that the mortality rate is not high although the hogs do lose weight.

The disease appeared in California some 20 years ago, Fladness said, and had been confined to that area because of few shipments of hogs from there.

Four Per Cent State Wheat Crop Harvested

Heat Wave Damage Is Said Light

In spite of rains throughout southern and eastern Nebraska last week, farmers in the state were able to harvest about four percent of the winter wheat crop.

The State-Federal Bureau of Agricultural Statistics reported Tuesday that winter wheat is now ready for harvest throughout the South Plate territory, except in some of the latest fields and in a few southwestern counties.

The office pointed out that damage to wheat from the heat wave in the eastern half of the state was light and the amount of shriveled grain is not as high as expected.

The shrinkage, however, is showing up more prominently in the western part of the state. All the wheat is expected to average out well because of the extremely high original prospects.

Higher yields are being reported from a number of southern counties where the crop was generally more advanced. Yields in southeastern Nebraska will be reduced by thin stands.

Nebraska's Panhandle was severely plastered by hailstorms, with 24 counties in that area reporting damage. Probably the heaviest hit were the North Platte Valley, Cheyenne and Deuel Counties.

Meanwhile, the corn crop continued to make excellent progress through the week. Much of Nebraska's corn has been laid by, and the bulk of the crop will average from knee to hip height.

Alfalfa Damaged
The office described the state of both the oat and alfalfa crops this week as "spotted." Lack of moisture and high temperatures hurt the oats, and lack of moisture accounts for alfalfa damage in places.

Elderly Farmer Survives Burns From Lightning

EDGAR, Neb. (Lincoln Star Special)—W. F. Black, Edgar farmer, will mark his eighty-fourth birthday anniversary the Fourth of July and this year the day will have special significance. Fireworks, in the form of a bolt of lightning, came early to the Black farm and left the elderly farmer with second and third degree burns.

During a recent severe electrical storm, Black was standing in his farmyard directing his son, Cecil, who was backing a load of grain with a tractor into a barn. The lightning struck the elder Black on the head, knocking him momentarily unconscious. The heat burned the middle links of his watch chain and melted the bottom of his 40-year-old pocket watch. His shoes were split above the soles and his clothing was burned from his body.

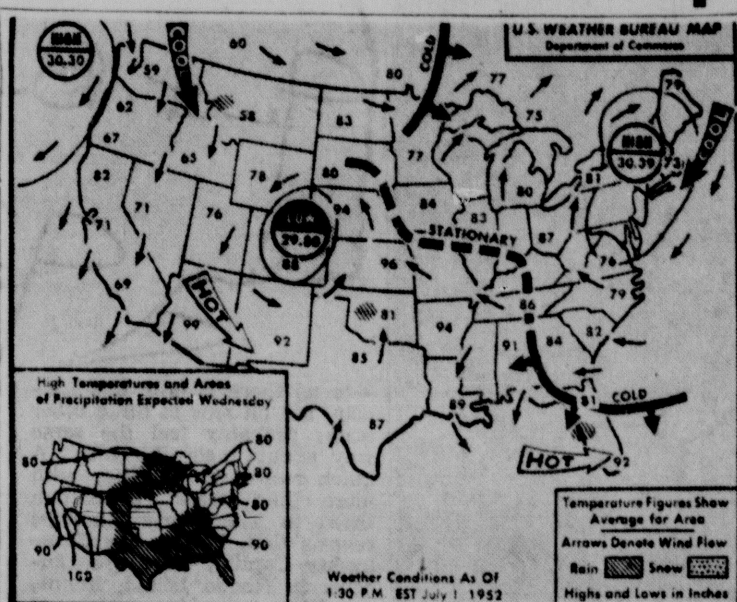

Attending physicians say they have never seen a man survive after being so badly burned by lightning.

Another Promising Oil Well Appears In Kimball County

SIDNEY, Neb. (AP)—Kimball County has another promising oil producer in the Markel No. 2, it was learned. Drill stem test in the J sand recovered 4,020 feet of clean oil in 20 minutes, with gas to the surface in eight minutes.

The Markel is in the Smith-Enders area and is a venture of Twin and Rock Hill Oil Companies.

The J sand showing is expected to result in more exploration in that locality. The land is owned by Edward Markel of Lodgepole, Cheyenne County farmer. Magnolia Petroleum Company is moving into the south Kimball County play with the Long No. 1.

Every Day Is Fun

ANOTHER FUN day with news—Not so much room as yesterday, but regardless of time, and newsprint (or the lack of it) there's never a drab moment when interesting people are doing interesting things—and to our way of thinking all people and activities are interesting—

OF PARTICULAR interest to Pi Beta Phi circles this afternoon will be the news that Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Zentaria of Modesto, Cal., (she is the former Louise Brugger) were in Lincoln Monday and Tuesday for a brief visit with Mrs. Renteria's aunt, Miss Florence Brugger. Before returning to their home on the west coast Mr. and Mrs. Renteria and their small daughter, Susan, will go to Colorado Springs for a visit with Mrs. Renteria's family, Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Brugger. Those lucky Melvin Bruggers—they are taking off very soon for Lisbon, Portugal—and from there Mr. Brugger, a mining engineer, will go on to Angola and Mozambique, Portuguese South Africa where he will direct uranium mining operations for the Portuguese government.

HEAR THAT Mrs. O. W. Everett arrives home the forepart of next week from San Mateo, Cal., where she has been visiting her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Eyer Sloniger—and also to visit her grandson, Jerry Sloniger, who is just home from Korea.

HAD A MOMENT'S visit with one of our old friends—a great-grandmother—who expressed amazement over the fact she had read someplace that the "lame duck walk" had returned as a fad—That's old stuff," she said, "That, and the 'Grecian bend'—I used to argue with my daughters about them all of the time." Then she said, "Well, if that horrible 'lame duck walk' does come in style again, they'd better do it right or I'll write them a letter. I know just how to do it."

OUR GUEST list grows a bit today—for we have added the names of Mrs. Richard Hall, her two daughters, Fallon and Suzanne, and her son, Ware, who are visiting in Lincoln between army posts—Mrs. Hall and her children come to Lincoln from Nebraska City where they have been the guests of Mrs. Hall's parents, Dr. and Mrs. C. G. Zimmer, and while here they will divide their time between Mrs. Hall's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. William Golding, and her husband's mother, Mrs. Ware Hall.

TOMORROW, so someone told us, is the day that Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Fisher, their two sons, Johnny and Tommy, and Bill and Tim Stubbs, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Stubbs, take off for Cass Lake, Minn., for a two weeks holiday.

SPEAKING OF holidays—wondered where Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Waugh were about now, and learned that they are at the Glen Eagles hotel, Glasgow, Scotland, but will leave there on July 4 for other points of interest in Scotland—The Waughs, as you know, will eventually arrive in Helsinki in time for the Olympic Games.

BACK IN TOWN AND civilian life once more are Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Weir, Jr., and their small son, Edwin, III, who have just returned from Bangor, Me. The homecomers arrived in time to help Mr. Weir's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Weir, celebrate their twenty-fourth wedding anniversary—We might add that it is a belated celebration since the official date is June 22—However Mr. Weir has been on the west coast for the past three weeks, but will be home within the next day or two—to celebrate his anniversary, and to get a glimpse of his grandson.

OUR JULY brides-to-be are busy these days—Checked with Miss Esther Beynon, whose marriage to Donald Williams is to take place on July 26—Found that Miss Beynon was complimented on Monday when Mrs. John Hoyt (Juliet Rathbone) of McCook entertained at luncheon at the University club. The guest list included a group of Delta Gammas, all of whom were in school at the same time. The honoree was presented with a miscellaneous shower.

AND ON THURSDAY Miss Beynon will be honored when Mrs. J. E. Bryan, Mrs. H. A. Dillman and Mrs. L. D. Clements are luncheon hostesses at the University club.

ANOTHER of the July brides, Miss Jacqueline Mathers, whose marriage to Carol Olson, Jr., takes place on July 12, is the incentive for a coffee this morning for which Mrs. T. Earl Williams will be hostess at her home.

Miss Mathers and her fiancé will share honors on Thursday evening when Dr. and Mrs. Steven Watkins will be a dinner host and hostess at their home. The guest list will include members of the families.

Feminine Golfers Are Guests

Coming to Lincoln on Tuesday to participate in the ladies day open golf tournament, an invitational affair, at the Lincoln Country Club was a group of feminine golfers from out-state.

Mrs. Fred Price, both of Beatrice; and Mrs. George Martin of Grand Island, the former Marian Bowers of Lincoln.

In the second row, from the left: Mrs. Ray Muzzy, Fremont; Mrs. Fred Platz, Lincoln; Mrs. John Anderson of Grand Island; Mrs. M. C. Wieland, Lincoln; and Mrs. Don Koiterman and Mrs. Edwin Imig, both of Seward.

Serving as co-chairmen for the affair were Mrs. Arch J. Bailey and Mrs. Clair Sloan.

Bride At Holy Family Church

Miss Valerita Joan Hedges, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles K. Hedges, became the bride of Darrell W. Cast of Pittsburgh, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Cast of Denver, Colo., at a ceremony which was solemnized on Monday morning, June 30, at Holy Family Church. Mr. Leslie V. Barnes read the lines of the 9 o'clock service. Gladioli and snapdragons shading from white to deep yellow low appointed the altar and chancel, and the wedding music was played by Mary Margaret Dodge, organist, who also accompanied Miss Beverly Tracy, vocalist. Miss Ardis Graham was the maid of honor and wore a gown of leaf green taffeta fashioned in the colonial mode. She carried a rounded bouquet of green-tinted carnations and caladium leaves. Frocked identically in yellow taffeta was the bridesmaid, Miss Ruth Carlson, who carried yellow carnations and caladium foliage. The flower girls, Miss Mary Cast, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Nadine Wadlow, cousin of the bride, wore tulle frocks in pale green and yellow. A deep yoke of nylon tulle accented the bride's period gown of froth white taffeta, which was designed with a full overskirt of the tulle. Her veil of illusion was held by a small cap of tulle, and she carried a bouquet of white carnations and caladium leaves frilled with white tulle.

—to us there is only one Lincoln, but citizens in three other states probably feel the same way about their Lincoln. A quick run-down of cities with more than 2,500 population listed in The World Almanac reveals that, besides the Cornhusker Capital, there are Lincolns in Rhode Island, Maine, and Illinois besides numerous Lincoln Parks, Lincoln Heights, etc., in other states.

—one somewhat sedate Lincoln business man has discovered how he can beat the heat these sultry evenings. It is reported that he removes shoes and socks and surreptitiously immerses himself to the knees in the family's strictly ornamental lily pond. A more intensive survey would undoubtedly turn up other "secret waders." —a new low was reached in the "fractured French" craze when a local wit translated the often-quoted line from Balzac, "Vous l'avex voulu, Georges Dandin" as "you have stolen George's turkey."

—we got a chuckle out of the South Lincoln matron who is noted for the profusion of plants and flowers in her home. Recently, she was unable to receive some surprise visitors from out of town because, as she explained, "she was having her living room ploughed." —after prowling the shops in search of a bargain, I appreciate more than ever Franklin P. Adams' famous twist, "What this country needs is a good five cent nickel."

Unland, and granddaughter, Virginia, of Oakland, Cal., who will remain in Lincoln for three weeks. Introducing—

Since June 10 this family from Ames, Ia., well represented in the red-hair department, has been in Lincoln where Mr. Williams is a new agronomist in agricultural chemistry at the University of Nebraska college of agriculture. With a shining new Ph.D. in his hand, he and his family hope to make Lincoln their home. A former resident of the west coast, Mr. Williams took his undergraduate work at UCLA and at Oregon State college, at Corvallis. After serving in the Air Force as a lieutenant and a navigator for three years, including a hitch in Italy, he decided he would be happy only if he went on to assail his doctorate at Iowa State.

Mr. Williams hopes that photography and gardening will replace the constant studying which has occupied his business and pleasure time for so long. He still is an avid reader and is looking forward to utilizing some of his agricultural knowledge as a guide on camping trips he hopes to take with the boys. Also included in Mr. Williams' autobiography are memberships in Alpha Zeta, (at Oregon State) and a residence in Los Angeles.

Holding the bored kitties are Bob, who is nine years old, and Bill, seven and one-half. Although they are out of the district, unfortunately, the boys hope to attend the Northeast Child Center school this fall. Most of their time is spent on roller skates, for these are the first sidewalks they have had!

Mrs. Williams has a warm task ahead of her this summer, if her plans for refinishing the furniture materialize! However, if one can make slipcovers and knit afghans without too much concentration, it is an easier proposition. Mrs. Williams is accomplished in these fields and hopes also to redecorate and garden! If she survives the summer, the PTA will await her next fall and she hopes also to find the time for reactivation in the Eastern Star. She shares with her husband a mutual interest in flowers, and in the outdoors, although she never considered either as a major at UCLA.

Peace Agreements With West Germany Ratified By U.S. Senate

New Ally Is Welcomed By Pacts

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Tuesday overwhelmingly ratified peace agreements bringing West Germany as an armed ally into the free world's mutual defense organization.

The United States thus became the first nation to approve all the documents, hailed by sponsors as ushering in a new era of European co-operation.

The agreements do not become effective until ratified by Parliaments of the other nations involved, including West Germany—a process sure to spark stormy debate and one that could consume many more months.

One agreement between the U.S., Britain, France and West Germany ends the Allied occupation of West Germany and returns the Federal Republic of Germany to the family of nations as an almost equal member.

The senate approved this pact, 77 to 5.

Sens. Butler and Seaton, Nebraska Republicans, voted for ratification.

A second document in the network of pacts signed in Europe last month would create a European Defense Community (EDC) with a single army of units from France, Italy, West Germany, Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg.

The Senate was not called upon to ratify the EDC contract, but it approved an agreement tying EDC—and thus West Germany—to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). The effect is for the U.S. to extend their NATO membership to West Germany.

The Germans in turn agree to help defend NATO members from attack.

The vote on this move was 72 to 5.

Sens. Butler and Seaton voted with the majority for approval.

Approval came after day-long debate in which Chairman Connally (D-Tex.) of the Foreign Relations Committee urged approval of what he called a move toward European unity unparalleled in history.

Sen. Wiley (R-Wis.) urged "resounding" bipartisan approval so that Russian propaganda could not say the U.S. was divided. He said rejection would amount to "recklessly issuing an invitation to Russia to take over all of Germany."

Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.), opposing ratification, questioned whether the U.S. was getting involved in pacts "that must be expiated by holy young American blood" in some future war.

RECORD CATCH—Mrs. Dorothy Stitham, Seattle nurse, measures her record halibut catch at 69 inches. The 125-pound fish, largest ever boated in Pacific Northwest by a woman using light sport tackle, was caught by Mrs. Stitham in Pacific Ocean, just outside Puget Sound, northwest of Seattle. She was using 15-pound test line and 12-pound test leader. (AP Wirephoto Tuesday Night.)

County Women Urged To Join Defense Work

"Preparing for relief work in case of natural disasters as well as attack in time of war is the biggest job Civil Defense faces."

Wendell Harding, Civil Defense state director, made the above statement at a Tuesday meeting at the YWCA of representatives of Lancaster County women's organizations meeting to discuss methods of interesting women in joining the program.

The women attending the meeting were urged to join some phase of Civil Defense work by Mrs. J. E. Yost, Milford, deputy state director of women's activities.

Ray Osborn, Lancaster County Civil Defense director, outlined the work which has been accomplished in Lincoln and in the county.

"During the recent water scare," he said, "we had more than 500 tank trucks prepared to haul water into Lincoln if that had been necessary."

Osborn also told the group that he believed "Civil Defense is a program that will be with us for the rest of our lives."

Mrs. Fern Orme presided over the meeting.

County Engineer Louis W. Weaver presented the proposal for funds, under which the county and the government would each contribute $30,000 toward completion of the road.

'COMMISSIONER' Henry Craig

Commissioner' Title Is Presented Ex-Jailer Craig

Retiring County-Jailer Henry Craig joined a select circle at the Lancaster County Commissioners meeting Tuesday.

Craig, who has served as head jailer for seven years since 1919, became the first honorary Lancaster County Commissioner for life. He retired as jailer June 30.

"He was one of the finest workers I have known," Sheriff Merle Karnopp commented.

During his years of service, Craig had charge of caring for prisoners lodged in the County Jail. Craig, who is 79, expressed regret at having to leave his work. Before becoming jailer he was a carpenter.

Now that he has plenty of leisure time, Craig plans to visit friends and relatives. He and his wife have purchased a new home. For several years he had lived across from the jail.

Chairman Chauncey Barney said living costs have not risen much in the past six months.

The Board indicated it would hear requests for adjustment of individual and department salaries. Most county department heads agreed last week at a meeting that a general increase was not necessary, although individual increases may be made.

Husker Jerry Dunn All-America Selection

On A New Permanent Lincoln Resident

ROBERT Clayton Shantz, perhaps the best baseball pitcher in the world today, is going to make his permanent home in Lincoln. The 26-year old king of the big league hurlers, who will probably start for the American League in the oncoming All-Star game, has asked The Firing Line to start shopping around for a good contractor. He wants to either build a home in Lincoln or buy one.

"I'm getting tired of lugging all this junk around the country," explains the Philadelphia ace lefty. Bobby is getting to be one of the nation's most publicized athletes.

Chicago and Cleveland last week reportedly each offered the A's over a half million dollars for Shantz and teammate Ferris Fain. General Manager Frank Lane of the White Sox flatly announced in Chicago that he would go as high as $300,000 cold cash for Shantz.

Time Magazine recently devoted 20 full inches to Bobby and compared him with the immortal Lefty Grove. The article quoted one of Manager Jimmy Dykes' main complaints: "The only trouble with Shantz is his frailness. He can't pitch every day."

Old (89) Connie Mack, who has seen them all, calls Shantz "the greatest fielding pitcher he ever saw." The baseball world is bowing low to the kid's pinpoint control, sweeping curve, sneaking fastball and baffling knuckler.

Look and Collier's will soon be out with big stories on the former dean of Sherman Field. All of the yards give Lincoln heavy credit for spawning this phenom of the diamond.

Now the citizens of Lincoln should feel mighty proud that Bobby Shantz is making his permanent home here.

How about a Bobby Shantz day, as soon as the big league season ends?

Let's see you citizens of Lincoln return a mighty fine compliment.

Lincoln Tallies Seven Times In First Frame

OMAHA (AP)—The tail-end Lincoln nine rose up Tuesday night to smack the Omaha Cardinals, 12-6, to open a three-game Western League baseball series here. A slim crowd of 956 saw the game.

Lincoln sprayed 18 hits around the field.

The A's drove southpaw Walt Montemery off the mound in the first inning and continued on Gary Blaylock until they had seven runs.

Blaylock lasted until he filled the bases in the third inning. Dave Thomas relieved after Lincoln made three in that frame.

Fat Purses Await Pilots

More Than $4,500 To Be Paid Race Drivers

BY WAYNE PANTER (Star Sports Staff Member)

More than $4,500 in prize money will be at stake Friday afternoon when over a score of throttle jammers from around the nation take to the State Fairgrounds half-mile dirt oval in the seventh annual running of Lincoln's Independence Day automobile racing classic.

Setup on the distribution of purses for five heat races and the 25-lap feature race makes it possible for the winner of the feature to pocket around $500, providing he also wins his heat race. In past seasons top-money pilots have rung the bell for sums varying between three and four hundred dollars.

Officials of the International Motor Contest Association, sanctioning body for the July Fourth event, said that $3,500 would go to actual race winners, with additional purses being paid to the fastest qualifiers in the time trials.

The first five qualifiers will each pocket $100; the next 10 will come in for $50 apiece while the next five drivers in order will receive $25.

Second only to prize money will be precious points to be earned toward the season's IMCA championship. Bill Holland, onetime Indianapolis "500" winner and regarded by many observers as one of the finest drivers of racing iron in the United States today, is currently leading young Bobby Grim of Indianapolis in a hotly-contested fight.

Holland claims 550 championship points; Grim holds 540. Both have won an equal number of feature races—three—but Holland has built a slight edge on the strength of victories in heat races.

Both drivers will come up against their stiffest competition of the season over the Capitol City oval, one which demands the utmost in driving skill owing to its slightly-banked curves.

Included in the field of cars expected are at least a half-dozen Offenhauser-powered creations in addition to the 270-inch jobs wheeled by Holland and Grim. Among those challenging the leaders will be such skilled chauffeurs as Leon DeRock, Phil Mocco, Guy McHenry, Bob Slater, Jimmy Campbell and Red Hoyle.

Indian Rally Whips Old Satch As Browns Lose In 19th Frame, 4-3

(From Press Dispatches)

THE Cleveland Indians scored two runs in the nineteenth inning Tuesday night off Reliever Satch Paige for a 4-3 win over the St. Louis Browns. The contest equalled the longest night game in major league history.

A pinch single by Hank Majeski with two out brought Al Rosen in with the winning run. Rosen's double had scored Bob Avila, who singled as the Tribe tied the visiting Browns' third run, which was scored in the top of the nineteenth.

Paige had hurled 10 scoreless innings. The Browns' final score came off Lou Brissie, who had hurled nine scoreless innings of relief.

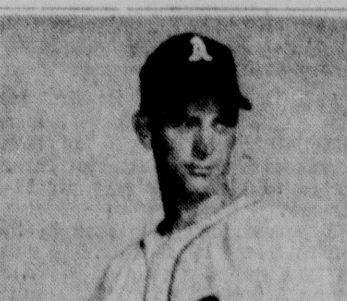

The Browns' last run came when Dick Kryhoski walked, moved to second on Bob Nieman's sacrifice and scored on Jim Delsing's single to center.

For the first eight innings, it was a pitching duel between Cleveland's Bob Feller and Ned Garver. In that stretch, each gave up only three hits and one earned run.

The Browns opened scoring the first inning. Second baseman Bob Young singled to right field and stole second. He went to third as Bob Avila threw out Jim Rivera and scored as Kryhoski grounded out.

Larry Doby opened the Tribe's half of the second inning with a walk, went to third on a single by Boone. After Simpson walked, filling the bases, Joe Tipton popped to Kryhoski. Feller fled to Rivera, scoring Doby and sending Boone to third.

In other games the Pittsburgh Pirates tweaked the slipping Chicago Cubs, 3-2, and the Cincinnati Reds took a 8-3 flailing at the hands of St. Louis.

Four More Big Seven Players Are Selected

FOR the third straight year a University of Nebraska baseball player has made the All-America team selected by the American Association of College Baseball Coaches.

Jerry Dunn, who hit .385 this season to pace all batsmen on Coach Tony Sharpe's nine, was named to a third team berth. He followed Bob Cerv, 1950 first team selection now with the New York Yankees and Bob Diers, a third team selection last year.

The team is rated by many as big-league calibre. More than half of those selected already have signed professional contracts. Twenty-three schools place men on the 30-member squad.

Lincoln A's Perform Before 10,189 During Recent Stand

ATTENDANCE at Lincoln Athletics' baseball games during their just-ended home stand showed a marked increase over figures hung up earlier in the season.

The A's won six and lost eight during the stand, most games being close and well-played. Lincoln won a game each of its last four nights at home, including splits of two twin bills.

More than 10,000 followers of the A's fortunes turned out for 14 games which were spread over 10 programs. Despite less-than-ideal weather conditions in which three programs were rained out and several others completed under the threat of an imminent downpour, attendance was on the increase when the A's bowed out Monday night.

One of the programs rained out was the first scheduled appearance of Jackie Prie, baseball clown. A's Business Manager Fran Nagle said that, judging from the large advance sale of tickets for that night, the total attendance might have been much larger had rain not taken its toll.

"Nevertheless," he said, "I was very pleased with the overall turnout. I think it indicates that Lincoln is a good baseball town and also serves to reflect the improved calibre of the club's play in recent games."

Breakdown of the attendance figures:

Date	Game	Attendance
June 18	rain	June 25	778
June 19	1,453	June 26	1,453
June 20	rain	June 27	888
June 21	549	June 28	1,200
June 22	1,009	June 29	1,328

Well, the big showdown between Taft and Eisenhower is closer than a gnat's eyes... and the whole nation is eager to know the outcome. Both candidates are claiming victory... and this is a good time to do it, because after the conventions somebody's going to be on the sidelines. Of course, if the two top hands tie each other up, a "dark horse" might gallop off with the prize... but the way it looks now this is about as remote as a cheerful word from Stalin. It'll be a hot fight, on the floor and in the back rooms but the main bout still lies ahead in November.

A Los Angeles man claims to be 121, and when he was asked for his formula for long life he said, "Just keep breathing." We have just one more question... "How?"

Steel Tieup Leaves Nearly A Million Idle

Industry Chief Sees Long Fight

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—A top steel industry spokesman predicted Tuesday a "long drawn out" fight between the industry and the striking CIO United Steelworkers, the prediction coming as the number of workers idled by the walkout spurted to the million mark.

Charles M. White, head of Republic Steel, in a telegram to Presidential Assistant John B. Steelman declared:

"We have fully explored the possibility of reconciling the union shop issue with the CIO and we see no possible area of compromise."

More than 600,000 members of the steelworkers union have been on strike since June 2 over demands for an hourly 26-cent wage and fringe package recommended by the Wage Stabilization Board.

The WSB also recommended industry adoption of the union shop whereby all steelworkers would be compelled to join the union.

In his telegram, White also told Steelman that a parallel strike in the great iron mines of Minnesota is becoming "disastrous."

White's statement came shortly after a steel company which granted its independent workers a wage hike asked the government to approve a $5.50 a ton increase.

Wierton Steel Co., a major producer of tin plate for tin cans and other products, disclosed it is asking the Office of Price Stabilization to approve the new higher prices.

Price Controls Chief Ellis Arnall indicated he is standing by his opposition to any steel price increase averaging more than $3 a ton. He has contended all along that no more than an average of $3 is permissible under these standards.

Five Workers Resign Posts With Lincoln

Four Municipal employees have submitted their resignations to the city, all effective July 1, at which time all city employees will be eligible for social security benefits.

A fifth resignation, that of Police Sgt. Guy C. Dean, is expected effective Aug. 1. Dean's employment doesn't come under social security, but he will receive a retirement pension from the city.

Included in the list of those retiring is Charles Meyer, 77, of 825 C St., the oldest city employee in terms of service. Meyer has been with the city 46 years after beginning as a laborer in 1904. He alternately has worked as sidewalk engineer paving inspector and for a time served as building inspector.

Meyer is succeeded by Michael A. Bourke, formerly with the city treasurer's office.

Water Statistician

A second city employee to retire is William N. Oschner, 72, of 1834 No. 27th. Oschner, statistician in the water and light department, has been with the department since 1935. He was special investigator and statistician with the State Railway Commission for 17 years.

Frank Lindstrom, 72, of 2776 Alpha, has been a member of the city's custodial staff since 1935. He is one of the five retiring employees who elected to receive social security benefits rather than the retirement plan.

Stassen's Views On GOP Platform Kick Up Trouble

CHICAGO (AP)—Former Gov. Harold E. Stassen of Minnesota kicked up trouble for Republican platform drafters Tuesday by proposing foreign policy, labor and civil rights planks objectionable to strong party factions.

Appearing in person before Resolutions Subcommittees set up to get varying platform views, Stassen—himself a contender for the GOP presidential nomination—advocated a foreign policy of "championing" the world's underprivileged peoples in their search for freedom and better economic conditions.

Stassen's recommendation came shortly after Sen. Eugene D. Millikin of Colorado, a supporter of Sen. Taft for the presidency, took over the key convention post in determining the party's stand on foreign affairs.

Stassen, speaking out against a platform that would be "too conservative," also urged his party to go on record for a compulsory Federal Fair Employment Practices Law—a proposal that both Gen. Eisenhower and Taft oppose.

Health Department's Dr. Dean Appointed County Physician

Dr. William Dean, acting county physician since the resignation of Dr. A. F. Taborsky, has been named county physician by the Lancaster County Commissioners. The 35-year-old doctor, a native of Lincoln, will take over the job in addition to his duties as clinic physician for the City-County Health Department. His salary was fixed at $225 per month. Taborsky received $450 per month.

Chairman Chauncey E. Barney termed the selection a "happy solution" to "any conflict which may have existed between the physician and the county physician."

The Commissioners agreed that the selection does not rule out the possibility that he may also assume the coroner's duties. The duties of the county physician are currently under study by the Commissioners and other county officials.

Attended Cathedral

A graduate of Cathedral High School and the University of Nebraska, Dr. Dean served his internship at the U. S. Naval Hospital in San Diego. He was in the Navy for three years.

After leaving the service, Dr. Dean engaged in private practice at South Sioux City for five years, before coming to Lincoln early this year.

He is a member of the American Medical Association, County Academy of General Practitioners. The Commissioners commented that they had received a number of applications for the post.

Bank Deposits Reported Up

Figures of the six Lincoln banks for the half-year ending June 30 show $6 million more on deposit than there was deposited at the same time a year ago.

Bankers said the totals reflect a "very healthy" state of business. While deposits were above June 30 of a year ago, they were still below the $139 million figure at the end of 1951. Loans and assets this half-year and last were all also below the totals at Dec. 31, 1951.

Loans, as compared to a year ago, were roughly the same, indicating business activity at the same or slightly higher level.

The banks also showed assets of $9 million over June 30, 1951, and only about $3 million below the $151 million at year's end.

11 Chute To Safety As B-29 Crashes

DURHAM, Okla. (INS)—An Air Force B-29 crashed and burned in a desolate section of the Canadian River country in western Oklahoma Monday night, but all 11 members of the big ship's complement parachuted safely to earth.

Ten of the airmen were found early Tuesday soon after the crash. The 11th man, Lewis Martin, (rank unknown) of Brooklyn, N. Y., was accounted for several hours later when he made his way to a ranch and was taken to Durham by automobile.

Three of the airmen were treated at nearby Shattuck, Okla., for minor injuries.
